

PRESS-INFORMATION

Great Honor: “Leonardo da Vinci Award 2018”

Heroldsberg 2018. In June 2018, Schwan-STABILO received the renowned international “Prix Leonardo da Vinci”.

Schwan-STABILO was commended as a “particularly innovative, value-oriented and sustainably managed family company” at a ceremony in the Deutsches Museum in Munich. Founded in 1865, the company is fully owned by the Schwanhäußer family and presently managed by its 5th generation. The prize was awarded by “Les Hénokiens”, an international association of bicentenary family companies from all over the world. Sebastian Schwanhäußer accepted the prize during a top-class ceremony held at the Deutsches Museum in Munich.

In his acclamatory speech, Minister President of Bavaria Dr Markus Söder emphasised: “I am a big supporter of family companies. They are the backbone of the medium-sized economy: they stay local, think long term and maintain a special relationship with their employees. Schwan-STABILO has a fascinating portfolio of products and is one of the great German family companies!

(From left to right: Professor Dr Wolfgang M. Heckl, Director General of the Deutsches Museum, Tokuchih Okaya, President of Les Hénokiens, Sebastian Schwanhäußer, Schwan-STABILO Executive Partner, Dr Markus Söder, Minister President of Bavaria, Francois St. Bris, President of Chateau du Clos Lucé/Parc Leonardo da Vinci)

Recognition of future-orientation

Representative of the entire Executive Management team, Sebastian Schwanhäußer and Martin Reim were delighted to accept the award that to a large extent also acknowledges the future-oriented thinking and work of all Schwan-STABILO employees.